

Abstract

The present invention provides methods and compositions for conjoint administration of a nefazodonoid and a fluoxetinoid for the treatment of depression and other neurological conditions.